Promoting healthy children and transition-age youth across Kentucky: Building a collaborative System of Care to promote children’s and transition-age youth’s social, emotional and behavioral well-being where they live, learn, work and play.

SIAC is established as a structure for coordinated policy development, comprehensive planning, and collaborative budgeting for services and supports that will build on the existing resources and to design and implement a system of care that is community-based, family- and youth-driven, and culturally- and linguistically-responsive for children and transition-age youth with or at risk of developing behavioral health needs and their family.

Goals

Build Organizational and Community Capacity to Promote the Social & Emotional Health & Wellbeing of Kentucky’s Children and Transition-age Youth and Our Workforce

Support the development of a compassionate workforce to reduce the compounding stigma that results from the intersectionality of issues faced by children & transition-age youth with or at risk of developing behavioral health needs

Increase Equity in Service Access and Outcomes

Utilize SIAC to Increase Participation in the Governance of Kentucky’s System of Care

Assess the current service array available and accessible to Kentucky’s children, young adults, and families

SIAC Member Agencies Commit to Operationalizing the Core Value of Being Family- & Youth-Driven
