What is Reentry?

An effort to support offenders as they transition from prison to the community to improve their ability to successfully reintegrate into society without further criminal behavior.
DOC Reentry Tagline
“A Second Chance to Make a First Impression”

Why Are Reentry Strategies Important?
› If you always do what you have always done, you will always get what you always got.
  - High Recidivism
  - Additional Crimes
  - More Victims
  - High Costs of incarceration / criminal process

Step One
› Implement the use of a validated risk and needs assessment tool
  - Identify criminogenic needs
  - Determine risk based on the needs
  - Create opportunities that address the needs and reduce the risk
Criminogenic Needs

- Anti-social cognition
- Anti-social companions
- Anti-social personality
- Family / Marital
- Substance Abuse
- Employment
- School
- Leisure and/or recreation

Balanced Approach

- Risk Management (low risk)
- Risk Reduction (moderate to high risk)
- Risk Control (very high risk)

CY 2012 Prison risk levels

- Very low / Low 13%
- Medium 44%
- High 35%
- Very High 8%
Reentry is a Philosophy

- Philosophy – what you think and believe
- Strategy – how you put the philosophy into practice
- Tactic – one method that can be used to achieve a narrowly defined goal
Key Stakeholders

› Criminal courts
› Corrections
› Parole Board
› Mental Health agencies
› Public health agencies
› Veteran’s Affairs
› Housing Authorities
› Employment services
› Social Service agencies
› Faith-based agencies
› Communities / average citizens

Current Reentry Efforts

› GOAL: Having a greater percentage of offenders successfully reintegrate into communities means a reduction in recidivism and enhanced public safety

› Kentucky’s recidivism rate vs. success rate
  • Success rate is approximately 69.5%

How can a focus on prevention be useful?

› Identify offender success – with the intention of supporting offenders through effective accountability
› Specific risk, needs and transition issues must be identified and addressed
› Staff need to have the resources available for effective referrals
Reentry Barriers

- Limited housing
- Unemployment
- Educational needs
- Mental Health Issues
- Healthcare needs
- Financial instability
- Family concerns
- Public perceptions
- Transportation
- Identification

Rural vs. Urban Settings

- Both of these extremes can challenge stakeholders
- Find respective strengths and use them!

Urban Settings

- Urban: resource rich with structured programs
Rural Settings

› Rural: Few structured programs
› Family and community support may be strong

Step Two

› Effective case management plan
  - Develop a plan with the offender to address criminogenic needs and reentry barriers
  - Plan should provide achievable goals and action steps
  - Timelines should be reviewed regularly
  - As goals are accomplished, case management plan shall be updated

What does the research say?

› Evidence Based vs. Promising Practices
  - EBP: specific and defined outcomes through formal research (reductions in recidivism, increased employment, improved behavior)
  - Promising Practices: general agreement among experienced professionals that these strategies are important and beneficial (PORTAL program)
What does our data say?

- If we release 18,000 offenders in 2013, and we have a 1% reduction in the recidivism rate, we'll save $678,000+ in incarceration costs in just one year.
- Link between Treatment and Recidivism
  - Criminal Sanction -.07
  - Inappropriate Treatment -.06
  - Appropriate Treatment .30

What doesn’t work?

- Punishment, sanctions or incarceration
- Scared straight type programs
- Physical Challenge programs
- Boot camp type programs
- Shaming programs

What does work?

- Programs that:
  - Focus on criminogenic needs
  - Match right offender to the right program
  - Use a cognitive behavioral approach
  - Use positive reinforcements
  - Seek right levels of dosage/intensity
  - Have built-in quality assurance

Family Engagement Sessions

- The Department of Corrections has developed "Family Engagement Sessions" to educate families about the corrections system.
- Facilitated by DOC staff and local agencies involved in providing services in the community.
- Designed to answer the basic questions a family member may have about the process of incarceration, release and supervision after release.
Family Engagement Sessions

- How long do these last?
  - For individuals that have a newly incarcerated loved one, the session will discuss issues related to initial incarceration, parole board hearings and program availability and will last for one hour.
  - For individuals that have a loved one nearing release, the session is considered to be the "Reentry" session and will last for one hour. The Reentry session will focus on offender needs as they prepare for release and transition back into the community. It reviews the responsibilities of families that serve as home placements while the offender is on supervision. It is designed for families with a loved one that is within a year of possible release.

Family Engagement Sessions

- Intended to answer all the families’ questions so it will reduce the number of calls to the prisons.
- Held quarterly in partnership with each of the reentry councils (so 11 held throughout the state each quarter).
- First and only state in the nation with this model of engaging families at both entry to the system and exit from the system.
